CITY OF CHICAGO:

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 7, 1853

☞ See First Page.

THE BATTLE IS FIGHTING.

To day, the 7th of November, is the forty-second anniversary of the Battle of Tippecanoe. How many of us, to-day, will be the living enjoyment of this blessings, which that battle helped to achieve, will pause for a moment in our eager race for riches, fame, or pleasure, to drop one tear to the memory of those brave whose blood quickened the soil of that field, and whose hallowed bones are now mouldering beneath the sod! It is not that we are ungrateful, but simply that we rush too eagerly forward and forget too easily the past. There is not one of the heroes of Tippecanoe, whose name is not embalmed in the memory of his country, for whom they died, and it is only such a word to be spoken to call up the remembrances of their virtues, their bravery and their patriotism—those to their advice! The world has many such Shrines as these! "Order is Heaven's first law, and this confessed some evil."

NEW YORK ELECTION.

The New York election takes place to-morrow, and will be looked to with no small degree of anxiety by politicians, not so much for the character of the officer to be elected, as the consequence that are likely to grow out of it. The extracts which we publish, to-day, from the speech of Senator Cooley, are significant of the character of the relation existing between the Van Buren and anti-Hunker branch of the democratic party. The former has always been the most powerful in numbers, even at a time when the whole influence of the national administration was directed against it, and now that it is controlled by the administration, it is but reasonable to expect a much more successful demonstration of strength. New York having been reorganized by the President and his policy as a political centre, by becoming identified with it in taking sides with one section of the party in opposition to the other, the opinion current there is of the greatest importance. But independent of this consideration, it possesses elements of exitement. The men who constituted the old Hunker party,—the advocates of the Albanian Gag, the opponents of the Wilmot Proviso, the supporters of the Compromise, the defenders of the fugitive slave law,—in short the men that brought the administration of Franklin Pierce into existence, are prescribed by that same Franklin Pierce, because they will not confess and act in loving harmony with their old democratic,—a class of men of no large portion are proscribed by the Pulham and Jeremiah Clemens, of Alabama. Not only this their proscription is viewed, in the prescription of General Cass, and all of the old leaders of the democratic party, and as an attempt to build up a party with new leaders, of which Mr. Pierce is aspiring to be the head. As things of course, we are not sufficiently interested in either side to have a preference. There never was a more graceless and flatbrained class of politicians than those who have been cheated, tricked and now follow the lead of the Van Burens. As for principles, beyond the "live issues" and two thirds of their have been. They have thrown their opponents are settled in their convictions and have fixed principles, they are of a character that is disgraceful to the free spirit of this 19th century, in this free and independent land. They have done more than even the Southern States to prevent the admission of free institutions to our territories, and have ever been ready to set the blood-hounds of the flying fugitive from oppression. We can have no faith for the success of such men. Our only hope is that they may be utterly destroyed as a party, and that their unprincipled opponents may share a like fate.

THE COMPLAINT LETTER WRITER.

Readers of the distinguished honors achieved by the honorable Secretary of the Treasury in attempting by the inimitable spirit and grace of his epistolary efforts, to regulate the local political matters of the State of New York, his brother, Secretary Conkling, has declined to enter the same path to fame and glory, and has written a semi-official letter, to the subscriber of the Bay State, informing them what they shall not what they shall not do. The letter is very brief, and is essentially administrative and has, we imagine, been written "by and with the advice and consent of the President, in the hope of regaining the ground he has lost by the concessions made to the free soilers of New York.

We do not know whether this rather transparent piece of fast and loose will gull the Bay State Democrats. In common with their political brethren in other States, we imagine that they are sadly bewildered yet they will have to be wilfully blind if they suffer the move on the part of the existing Cabal to deceive them. The Administration party favor the Hunkers in one State, and the Softs in another, without the first being known, and calling down the just reprobation of all honest men against such double dealing.

We give the letter below, only promising that the grammatical errors it contains, are to be laid to the door of the Secretary, and that our hands are guiltless thereof:

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 29, 1853.

DEAR SIR:—I perceive that in several counties in Massachusetts, Coalitions between Hunkers have been formed of associated Democrats and Free Soilers. My judgement is that the Democrats who have participated in this, have done worse than to disband. They have by it, in a large portion, repudiated the Cincinnati platform, and compromises of 1850 for the Free Soilers. Not only this their proscription is viewed, as the proscription of General Cass, and all of the old leaders of the democratic party, and as an attempt to build up a party with new leaders, of which Mr. Pierce is aspiring to be the head. As things of course, we are not sufficiently interested in either side to have a preference. There never was a more graceless and flatbrained class of politicians than those who have been cheated, tricked and now follow the lead of the Van Burens. As for principles, beyond the "live issues" and two thirds of their have been

LOCAL MATTERS.

THE SACRED CONCERT.—We trust our citizens will not forget that the Italian Opera Troupe give a concert of sacred music, from the works of the most celebrated composers, to-night at Tremont Hall. The entertainment will be one of a very high order, as will be seen by reference to their advertisement.

We are requested to state that the price of reserved seats will be $1.50. All others $1.00.

BANK FAILURE.—Dispatches were received on Saturday A. M. announcing the failure of the Bank of Massilon, Ohio. We suppose this result was owing to business connections with a leading broker of New York, who failed several weeks ago.—We fear there is a large amount of its bills in circulation here.—If not a stock secured Bank, and the bill holders may therefore lose by the failure.

"SIX SIDES LOBSTER."

The Distinguished young gentleman, who figured very conspicuously in this city, but a few months ago, in connection with a "Health Insurance Company," and who only owned the "exclusive connections," has finally obtained a public position in the State of Connecticut. A letter, now before us, announces that he was recently tried at Danbury, Ct., and sentenced to the Penitentiary for two years, for selling a piece of lead, representing it to be gold, in one of the Bridgeport Banks.

CHICAGO MECHANICS ARMS AND TOOL DEPOT.—We received a letter on Saturday evening, from a gentleman in Davenport, Iowa, requesting us to forward him several copies of our paper. He does by saying "We shall have to 'bolt' more by your regular hourglass than by the Lake. We are now paying $1.25 per 100 pounds freight from that city, when we can get goods from Chicago at 75 cents per hundred.—Let your merchants only advertise, and we will be sure to find them. J. M. D."

☞ There was a report on Water street, on Saturday, of the failure of a heavy produce house at Buffalo. We forbear mentioning the name as we hope that at worst it will only be a temporary suspension.

SNOW.—The air was filled with snow flakes during Saturday, but there was not enough fall to change the color of a black hat.

SUNDAY MORNING ARRIVAL.—We learn that the schooner Windsor, belonging to Mr. Nathaniel Jones, of this city, went ashore several days since about five miles from Louis Island, near the entrance to Green Bay, and is probably a total wreck. The Windsor was a new vessel, belonging to Mr. Jones and a number of his friends. There was an insurance of $4,000 on the vessel, and $7,000 on the cargo.

SUNDAY MORNING ARRIVAL.—The Detroit Advertiser of Saturday morning says the schooner Wisconsin, from Chicago went ashore on the head of Peach Island, on Wednesday night. She had on board a full load of wheat. The Steamer Ruby tried to get her off, but was unable to move her. Yesterday the captain commenced taking out a part of the cargo to lighten her. It is not thought she has sustained much damage. If it is found she leaks badly, she will probably go into the dry dock here, which happens to be uncongested at present.

STEAMER E. K. COLLIS.—A new craft for this fine steamer, was expected to arrive on Saturday evening, and the boat will undoubtedly be ready to resume her trips on Wednesday morning, next.

FOX GRAND RIVER.—The Steamer Traverse, Capt. George F. Brown, will leave Higgins's dock, foot of Wells street, this evening at 5 o'clock for Grand Haven.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—The case of Wm. B. Johnson of Guatemala, vs. Wm. Johns of this city, which has occupied the attention of this Court for the past two weeks will probably be submitted to the jury to-day. The counsel have been engaged since Friday morning in summing up the case. The evidence was very voluminous, and the case has been managed with great ability throughout.

☞ The Recorder's Court, Judge B. S. Wilson, will commence its November term this forenoon.

NOVEMBER ELECTION.

The election for County Judge, Clerk, Sheriff, and School Commissioner, will be held tomorrow, the 8th inst. The names of the candidates are before the people will be found in our advertising columns. The effort to defeat the important ones, especially those of Judge and Clerk. The election will not partake at all of a party spirit, but like most of our local campaigns, is altogether one of individual merit.—The only appeal we have to make is that every individual will judge for himself of the fitness of the candidates for the offices to which, and then vote accordingly. The candidates are all at work in good earnest, and will lead on their forces to battle, with the spirit and determination of veterans.

The Common Council have designated the places for holding the election in this city, and the judges thereof, as follows:

PLACES OF HOLDING ELECTIONS.

First Ward—City Hotel.
Second Ward—Eagles House No. 1.
Third Ward—Court House.
Fourth Ward—Eagles House No. 2.
Fifth Ward—Eagles House No. 3.
Sixth Ward—Eagles House No. 4.
Seventh Ward—Eagles House No. 5.
Eight Ward—O. McCarthy's.
Ninth Ward—Eagles House No. 3.

JUDGES OF ELECTIONS.

1st Ward—J. Beather, S. B. Walker, A. S. Veley.
2d Ward—Isaac Spare, C. V. Dyer, M. Rice.
3d Ward—J. C. Eno, W. H. Adams, S. Mc. Vicker.
4th Ward—D. Scully, E. Pinnock, Robert H. Foss.
5th Ward—J. Moss, E. Kelleher, O. B. Scott.
6th Ward—J. M. Ross, George Healy, L. A. Williams.
7th Ward—J. Braddock, T. A. Sterrett, J. Bowsey.
8th Ward—F. Fairbanks, M. Schiech, George A. Robb.
9th Ward—M. Hivsey, Chas Bond, Patrick McKay.

For the Colored Citizens.

—By reference to the columns of the morning papers of Saturday it will be seen that the Democratic have entered into a combination to close their stores at 6 o'clock during the winter, which is a movement very much of their credit. I chanced to meet Mr. A. H. Burley with a paper looking much like a petition for the Common Council or some other body, and on asking him what it was about, he informed me that he was soliciting a benefit to the Young Men's Library in the employ of kind and generous Merchants, ever ready to contribute to their welfare, and which with annual festivals draw out a host of the Mechanics. But the good work has now fairly begun and let all follow. While the employes are gaining mental strength in the golden hours that has been granted them, with pleasure we look back upon the days when we were young, and wish and sigh in vain for the hours of mirth and galety. But in this age and in this young City can be found new scenes, hearts are in the right place. May success attend all such.

OLD ABE.

☞ Some of the merchants of Milwaukee, nearly fifty in number, entered into an agreement to close their stores at 6 o'clock in the evening. A few others in the city refused to come into the arrangement, and the whole thing has now fallen through.

We have seen a most generous spirit displayed on the part of our Buck-eye neighbors, and hope now to announce that the 6 o'clock rule has gone into universal operation in our sister but thriving village.
